

Forever House – Glenn Waldron

I think – I think it's shit... Excuse my language but – I really think it is. It's completely shit. I think it's crap. There's nothing like – nothing ever happens here – nothing interesting or amazing or – or even anything horrible. And most people are – like when they walk, they can barely lift their feet off the ground. Have you seen that? Well, they do.

And it's so – I mean – this town, it's so small. It's like, miniscule – it doesn't even have a Pizza Express. Because – because I mean, how can you live all your life somewhere that doesn't have a Pizza Express? Everyone who lives here thinks it's the centre of the... But it's so... Because if they bombed it tomorrow, if they put a great big nuclear bomb under, like, Debenhams and it flattened the whole thing then the rest of the world would be very sad and they'd miss it for a few days and everything but would it – I mean, the world would go on, wouldn't it?
